Report

The Department of Food Technology, Y.C.I.S. Satara in collaboration with Incubation Cell organized “Innovative Business Plan Competition” on Wednesday, 6th March 2024 for all General and Professional courses students under the Institution Innovation Council. We had erudite resource persons; Dr. R. V. Hangarge ( Chairman, IIC, YCIS Satara), Mr. P. R. Dure (Chairman, Incubation Cell, YCIS Satara) and Presidential address delivered by Principal Dr. B.T. Jadhav.

Objective- The objective of competition is to aware the students to represent the new business ideas. When you start a business and are self-employed, you are your own boss and ultimately control your own destiny. This means that you have the autonomy to design your product or service according to your vision, and you have the flexibility to determine when and how you work. Ultimately, building your own business allows you to pursue your goals and ideals with greater independence and control.

Outcome- It helps students to explore ways in which we can design business objectives are economic, social, human and organic. Each can help a business ensure their prolonged health and growth. Human objectives refer to employees' well-being, while economic objectives refer to the company's financial health and students those ideas were innovative were shortlisted for providing them funds.
